Headmaster's Letter

Dear Members of the Ridley Family:

The most warm and lovely autumn to grace the Niagara Peninsula in many a year helped buoy Orange and Black spirits through a disappointing football season. But, the cheerleaders and the fans never gave up hope right down to the end, and the 1st Team itself never faltered in effort; they managed to put the fear of Ridley, if not God, into an undefeated U.C.C. team in the second of our two games with the Blues. Second Team redeemed the honour of football, by losing only one game, and that by one point. First Soccer had a decent record, and celebrated by their first international tour to Bermuda over the 4th Dimension in November; they won no games there, but the motor bikes were grand! Harriers ran well on drier turf than usual, and girls' captain, Melissa Marian ranked in region and provincial competition. Girls' swimming kept afloat and the female hoopsters acquitted themselves well in the competitive local high school league. One of my high points of the fall was watching the girls come from a twenty point deficit at the half to beat Lakeport.

Other highpoints of the fall were a most successful Big "R" Bazaar through which, on one Saturday afternoon, the Niagara Branch of the Women's Guild (assisted by Toronto and London Ladies) raised over $9,000 for Ridley's financial aid chest. We also had a fine turn out for the Ridley Fund Volunteers gathering to receive their marching orders for this year's campaign at the Royal Military Institute in early October. Association Weekend with beautiful warm weather, saw a successful panel on Ridley Today at the Annual Meeting, and a very well attended Dinner and Dance. We took some deserved criticism on the neatness (or lack thereof) of some student rooms. But, otherwise Alumni were impressed and supportive. I have personally enjoyed two excellent Branch Meetings, the first at Hugh and Dianne McDonald's house in Winnipeg with a score or so of Alumni, current parents, and prospective parents. The second was a large gathering of 60 or more at the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club, for a showing of "Ridley: A Secret Garden". Bermudian hospitality was bounteous, and Graham and Anne Powell ran practically a guest-house restaurant for the Ridley soccer team and us camp-followers. But, what is most important for the Ridley Family to know this fall is actually something about next fall.

GRADE 10 GIRLS will be accepted at Ridley this year for the 1983-84 school year. This is important for all of the Ridley Family not only to know but to broadcast — because I still run into people in Canada who actually do not know Ridley is co-ed!

The full integration of girls into Upper School next fall will bring the total number of females to just over 100, and make the ratio of male to female students about 2.5 to 1. We hope to add 25 girls to Grade 10 without reducing the number of boys accepted into Grade 10 from RLS and outside. We also plan, if possible, to expand the overall numbers in Upper School by as many as 15. This means that there will not be a drop in male enrolment commensurate with the added female intake. Next fall, females will be housed in Gooderham West as well as in Gooderham East and Dean's House.

FRONT COVER:

Pictured celebrating their 25th reunion are Mrs. Peter Smith (Carol), Mrs. Chris Merry (Susan), Mr. Peter Smith who travelled to the school from England, Mr. Frank Coy, and on his tractor, Mr. Chris Merry, class secretary for Class of '57.

Co-education has more than proved itself at Ridley. We have an outstanding programme which has attracted girls whose average academic ability surpasses our male average. The Ridley Girl is not, typically, a modern dance esthete, whose advent has resulted in a major shift in the Ridley curriculum and ethos. By and large the Ridley young woman selects the same courses right up through Grade 13 as the average male student. Key indices such as the percentage of females enrolled in Grade 13 physics and calculus on the one hand, and in art and music on the other indicate that females are only 1.5-2% lower in the math-science enrolment than their percentage in the grade, and only a couple of percentage points higher in the arts. Actually, the greatest differential is in our two Grade 13 French courses (we have added a second demanding advanced level course, intended primarily for products of immersion programmes), where females are actually a majority of the enrolment.

Young women at Ridley have not asked for major changes in the Ridley programme or ethos; maybe they haven't asked for enough! There are two female prefects this year, the editor of Acta is a girl; females serve as Cadet company commanders, and sit on the Colours Committee. Their "feminism" is a discrete and constructive combination of the old and new connotations of that word. They are proud to be at the only major co-ed boarding school in Ontario, and those who have graduated are now working for Ridley on the Fund and in the Association. I hope that all the Ridley Family shares their pride, and will spread the word of our unique co-educational environment to everyone in North America and beyond.

Best Regards,
H. JEREMY PACKARD

The Headmaster recently announced the expansion of girls at Ridley to include Grade 10 females.

Alumni Week End

While the week end was held later in October than it has ever been and it conflicted with Halloween dates the anxiety caused by the concern of a poor turnout proved unnecessary. One of the largest turnouts in recent years visited the School and the St. Catharines area during the week end to enjoy nostalgic moments with classmates, fine weather and Ridley hospitality.

Friday evening the 10 reunion year classes gathered in various locations such as the homes of Mr. Larry Smith ('37), and Mr. Bob Stanley ('47), the St. Catharines Club ('32, '52, '67), the Parkway Inn ('57), the Niagara Institute ('62), the Pillar & Post ('42), the Port Mansion ('72) and Howard Johnson's ('77).

Mr. H. R. Wiggs ('15) one of Ridley's oldest Alumni, returned again this year for the reunion weekend. He is the picture of good health, at 86 years of age.

Class of '72 entertained the crowd with a half-time game of earth-ball.

CLASS OF '82

J. Williamson, T. Hare, K. Snyder and A. Piper

Saturday morning gave Alumni the opportunity to tour the facilities with present senior students and see what has changed and what has remained the same. Following these tours the A.G.M. of the Association was held in the Matthew's Library. Mr. George Irwin ('69), after a very successful term of office as President, passed the reins to Mr. E. Peter Elwood ('66).

After the business of the day had been completed a forum on "Ridley Today" followed. Mr. H. Jeremy Packard, Headmaster, Mr. Terry Cronyn ("Mr. Ridley"), Mr. Brian Iggulden ('67), Mrs. Janet Lewis (Bursaries and Scholarships), David Conklin (School Prefect), David Walker (O.C. Cadet Corps), Heather Leishma (School Prefect) and Wade Brintnell (New Boy) all spoke on a variety of topics ranging from Scholarships, Prefectship, girls at Ridley, new Boys and Sports Ridley to the general state of the School. This gave Alumni a chance to quiz the present School occupants about the ongoing programmes.

After a sustaining cup of coffee or glass of sherry in the Performing Arts Centre, luncheon was served in the Great Hall. The dining room was decorated beautifully and this occasion afforded our visitors their first chance to see the refurbished gallery with the new staircases leading to it.

That afternoon U.C.C. spoiled an otherwise pleasant day by downing our football team 20-6. A measure of revenge was gained by our other football and soccer teams who gained victories. The crowd retired to the Iggulden Gym for draft beer or cocktails or the Great Hall for tea.

15TH REUNION — 1967

A dinner/dance entertained over 230 people in the Great Hall Saturday evening. The classes and their secretaries were introduced and special mention made of several notable Alumni. Mr. John Dryden ('47) and his wife Margaret travelled from New Zealand to celebrate his 35th reunion and their 25th wedding anniversary. Mr. Will Randall ('72) from Argentina, Mr. Rick Clarkson ('62) from Belgium, Mr. Peter Smith ('57), and Mr. William Churchill-Joell ('57) from England, Mr. Roger Mitchell ('67) from White Horse, Mr. Marshall Soules ('67) from Vancouver and Mr. Duncan Moran ('62) from Bermuda were only a few who travelled great distances to see old friends. One very enthusiastic alumnus, Mr. Harry Hill ('47), even arrived a week early at Bob Stanley's for his class reunion! Andre Galliah ('62) - California, Brian Ganaan ('62) - Texas, Pat Lett and Doug White ('67) - Halifax . . . the list goes on. Another special guest was Mr. Ross Wiggs ('15) who looked the picture of health and was warmly greeted with a standing ovation.

Sunday chapel with flowers of remembrance for Dr. J. R. Hamilton and David Durward, Gary Putnam, Bruce Graham, all class of 1972 was also memorable for the favourite hymns and familiar stately ambiance. Gracious hospitality from Reverend and Mrs. Don Hunt, in the Lower School closed a fine weekend and saw the revellers return to their lives buoyed by their return to Ridley and their nostalgic indulgence.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dryden of New Zealand celebrated John's 35th reunion and their 25th wedding anniversary at reunion weekend.

Elitism in Preparatory Education

(The following is a talk which I gave to the Annual Meeting of the Niagara Branch of the Ridley College Women's Guild, on Thursday, October 28th. When the Headmaster suggested that I submit it to "Tiger", it drove me back to my sources — even a little plagiarism is a bad thing! I think that I am being quite honest if I say that some of the ideas in the talk were gleaned from a recent reading of "The Paideia Proposal" by Mortimer J. Adler (McMillan Publishing Co., and some of the illustrations (specifically the first quotation of Henry Adams) are from a review of that book by Richard Stengel, which appeared recently in Time Magazine.)

Henry Adams wrote of his own early education, "It taught little, and that little ill." Unfortunately, pre-secondary education can still live up (or down) to that description, and get away with it. I dare say that in some cases it does teach little: boys reach Grade 9 without ever having read a book; they get to Grade 8 without having learned the times-tables. Universities are holding remedial English classes, and society is blaming it on the secondary schools — unjustly, in my opinion. I wonder why it takes until a person gets to university before we recognize flaws in his education which should have been rectified 10 or 12 years before? I suppose that part of the reason is the heretical view often held in our society that higher education is more important education. You can hardly expect a Lower School head to agree with that! However, the relative importance of different levels of education is not what I set out to talk about: perhaps some other time and some other place.

When my number-two son recently began looking at universities, I became more aware than I had been that some university courses are very hard to enter — as are some universities: 82% is necessary for Computer Studies at Waterloo — 87% for Medicine at Toronto, 86% to enter anything at Trinity College, Toronto (thank heaven it was not that way 40 years ago — you would have been looking for a different speaker today!). In other words, some courses, some colleges, some universities are recognised as tops — the best — the elite. Such a thing happens whether we like it or not — the "best" students seek out the "best" courses, colleges and universities.

Now, it is all very easy for an 18-year-old to seek out the best — to become one of the elite if he chooses — it is a well-studied system, and the pecking-order is reasonably well defined; but what about a preparatory school? How can you tell if little is taught, and that little ill? How can parents decide if their son is getting value for their much spending? I will suggest two ways — two measurements — there are more, but these are enough for this talk.

First of all, there should be three different kinds of learning going on at the same time, and I think that by judicious questioning, you can find out if this is indeed happening with your child. First, there should be the acquisition of basic knowledge such as history, mathematics and languages. This acquisition, it seems to me, although apparently fundamental, is often avoided because, some years ago, some modern, well-meaning educationalist expounded the theory that learning should be fun — one of the most destructive educational theories to be expounded in recent years. The acquisition and organization of basic facts is rarely fun for a young boy. He is physically, psychologically and emotionally suited for the playing field — and that is where he has fun. He is not entertained by the times-table, the law of reacting weights, or the past perfect passive! The teaching, ingraining and force-feeding of such knowledge does not add to the immediate joy of life — or to the popularity of the teacher. Such is one of the facts of life!

Secondly, there should, at the same time, be a regular development of the academic skills of reading, writing, and mathematical computation. These are taught just as athletic skills are taught — by explanation, practice, criticism, repetition, encouragement, and often sharp goading. Having the basic knowledge is only a part of it all — being able to apply it — knowing what questions to ask — and when to ask them — these skills should be constantly practiced by an elite school preparing people to be elite.

The school should strive to enlarge the students' understanding of our civilization. We cannot give courses in aesthetics, but we can surround the student with beauty: we can have him experience the art, music, writings of the best that our civilization has produced, and challenge him to emulate — to surpass those who have gone before. A good school absolutely must develop spiritual and moral awareness, an aesthetic sensibility, an ability to think analytically and critically — it must, in other words, ensure that its students mature at a proper rate — not an easy task when many of our mass media are catering to a grade four or five personality.

That is the first test for a prep. school; is it teaching knowledge, practicing skills, forcing growth and wider vision?

The second question I would ask is, "Is the school striving to have a child discover his true abilities, and encouraging a drive that will have him develop them to their fullest extent?" In other words, is it turning out the elite? One of the problems of our society is that it puts a price-tag on elitism, and suggests that the elite are the wealthy and the socially top-drawer, and ignores the more genuine forms of the elite — the elite cabinet-maker, typist, teacher, businessman, artist — and these, I maintain, make up the true elite. The man or woman who has found the talent God implanted, and who has agonized through to the very peak of his or her ability, who finds joy and satisfaction in the harmony and beauty of that part of creation he is given to work with — this person is truly elite in a society where mediocrity is encouraged, "what's in it for me?" is the operative question, and quick alleviation of any pain, physical or emotional, real or imagined, is taken for granted. Of course the average boy can never be elite in this or any other sense — that is a contradiction of terms — but in our world it is more difficult than ever for a boy to avoid the cynicism of the age, a cynicism which makes apparent vice of the classical virtues, and virtues of the seven deadly sins.

The joy of preparatory schooling is that it is able to keep a syllabus so broad that it can catch and hold any spark of genius that may float through — and because it can, it must — if it is to be a school to produce the elite. It must uncover the talent for computer studies as well as the soul destined for spiritual leadership — it must practice the techniques which will lead to split-second decisions in space as well as the techniques which will lead to slow, plodding, patient decisions that will bring peace to our planet. The people who will be doing all of these things — and many more — are in our preparatory schools today. Why, I ask myself, do we blandly assume that we can produce no more Shakespeares, Marlows, Beethovens, Curies or Einsteins? I refuse to believe that the elite of our world will be satisfied with Johnny Carson!

The frustration of preparatory teaching is illustrated by the fact that I do not know — cannot tell — if at Ridley College Lower School in 1982, I have a Banting, a Hammarschold, a daVinci, a Shakespeare, a Saul of Tarsus.

If a school does not have a programme that is broad enough, then that divine spark may never be struck; if the school does not have the visionaries who can hope for the very best to develop — who have the faith to expect the very best to develop, then, no matter what the expertise of its staff or the extent of its machinery, it is not elite. If it is not elite, and does not encourage, by emphasis and example, its members to be elite in the proper sense, then I would not send my child there, if I could help it.

REV. D. P. HUNT
Headmaster, Lower School

Leadership Development At Ridley

The Ridley environment provides a large number of opportunities for students to experience leadership and to develop skills for effective leadership. There is the prefect system in the upper school, the appointment of duty boys in the lower school, the cadet corps with its systems of officers and tribe leaders, the athletic area where team captains are expected to assume a leadership role, along with the myriad of other activities that require organization and direction by a student such as the newspaper, the dances, the film society, the work in the library; the list could go on and on.

There are two major schools of thought concerning leadership. There are those who feel that "Leaders are born, not made" and then there are those who feel that many people have some characteristics and/or skills that can be developed so that they can become effective leaders. Dr. Thomas Gordon, a psychologist who has done a great deal of work in the field of leadership, operates on the thesis that "being the leader does not make you one, because leaders don't automatically get the respect and acceptance of their group members; so in order to earn the leadership of their group and have a positive influence on the group members, leaders must learn some specific skills and methods".

How are these skills learned? Example has been a good teacher. In past years many students came to Ridley in the Lower School and stayed on through the Upper School. During their time at the school they were exposed to a number of different leadership styles in the duty boys and prefects as they observed the way in which they handled their leadership roles. They saw the popular, the charismatic, the powerful, and the organized leaders. By the time they reached positions of leadership, they knew what was expected and they had some clear examples in those whom they had admired in the job.

Times are changing. In the 80's we find that more than 50% of our graduating classes in the Upper School have been in the school for three years or less. This shortened exposure does not provide time for the student to observe, question and absorb all that goes with the responsibility of leadership. We recognize the need for a move to other leadership development methods.

We have begun to look at specific training for those students who have been chosen for leadership roles. We must be clear about the duties and responsibilities that accompany the title of Prefect, or Editor, or Captain and we must be able to communicate those expectations to the student involved. Further, we must be prepared to assist, to advise, to coach and to evaluate as leaders carry out their jobs.

The coaching of the School Prefects began with their appointment and this past year involved meeting with the Administration as well as with the outgoing Prefects prior to the end of their Grade 12 year. Both School and House Prefects were required to return to the school two or three days before the beginning of term so that they could meet as a group to organize and to discuss their approach to their new status and responsibilities. This orientation period was useful but the greatest benefit is yet to be realized as this year was an experimental one. The feedback from the present prefects with regard to the kinds of training and discussions that they could have used will be invaluable in the establishment of programs for future orientations.

The students in leadership roles continue to learn on the job. Experience is still a great teacher. However, the experience is valuable if it can be discussed and with this in mind, a Prefect Support Group consisting of a small number of masters meets monthly with the School Prefects so that good experiences can be shared and bad experiences can be analysed in order to come up with better ways of handling things. The House Prefects have also met as a group after the term got underway, and they plan to meet again as they find the experience of sharing information and frustrations valuable.

It is our hope that as more specific attention is given to the idea of leadership development, that we will be able to help individual students improve their strengths, and in some cases develop skills where natural abilities are lacking. Leadership development should help students to develop a self awareness where they can appreciate both their adequacies and inadequacies and it should provide the means whereby students can learn to overcome those identified weaknesses.

We at Ridley have a great opportunity to help students realize their potential in the field of leadership. Our goals are lofty — similar to a definition of leadership taken from the "Y" where "we measure the effectiveness of a leader, not in terms of the leadership exercised, but in terms of the leadership evoked; not in terms of power over others, but in terms of the power released in others; not in terms of the goals set up and the directions given, but in terms of goals and plans of action persons work out for themselves with the help of the leader; not in terms alone of products and projects completed, but in terms of growth in competence, sense of responsibility and in personal satisfactions among many participants." The student who leaves Ridley having successfully managed a leadership role has a definite asset to offer to the future employer and to the community in which he or she lives.

Financial Aid and a Ridley Education

For 1983-84, the Headmaster, and the Board of Governors are determined to see that Ridley offers the strongest Financial Aid Programme of any school in Canada. Indeed, we have only one close rival right now. The purpose of emphasizing this programme is not as a stop gap hedge against effects of the current state of the Canadian economy and fears for enrolment constriction. Whatever the economic conditions, Ridley, as Canada's largest independent residential school has a responsibility — to its founders, its traditions, and to Canada — to draw its students from a broad pool of potential applicants. Given inflation and escalating fixed costs, Ridley fees have risen to the point where even many Old Boys take pause at the cost of a Ridley education.

Ridley's parents form for application for Financial Aid is being revised for next year, and a Loan Programme is being initiated — the first of its kind in Canada. Our ideal must be that no above average (in academic or extra-curricular abilities) Canadian student who can meet the expectations of the School should be denied a Ridley education for lack of funds.

The following letter articulates the appreciation of one thoughtful recipient of Ridley Financial Assistance:

August 23, 1982

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen of the Board:

I have just completed seven years of education at Ridley College, and consider it without doubt the best possible way I could have spent those seven years in preparing for my future. Back in grade seven, I had little knowledge or interest of the financial side of my Ridley career. All the bills and tuition and extras were handled by my father, and the report card envelope no longer held these forms when it reached my hands.

It is only in the past few years that I have come to realize the heavy financial burden a Ridley education is, and must be, to provide this extraordinary environment. It is also only recently that I have come to realize your incredible contribution to my education in the form of bursaries. The amount of money that has been granted in my name over those seven years has provided a schooling that could not be matched anywhere else. Nor would my parents have been able to afford sending more than one of my family at the same time, as has often happened.

For this gift I offer my most sincere thanks to you all. I realize that with our economic situation as it is these bursaries have become a heavy burden for you, but be assured that I consider them, and Ridley, the prime reason for my being accepted into one of the best computer science programmes in North America. On behalf of all who have and will benefit from these bursaries, thank you for such assistance.

Sincerely,
A Grateful Student

Report on Admissions

Opening day in September found Ridley comfortably full despite the recession. Our Upper School total enrolment stands at 367, broken down as follows: 254 boarders (199 boys plus 55 girls), and 113 day students (82 boys and 31 girls). Lower School opened with 86 boarders and 58 day students for a total of 144.

Although, naturally, a very large number of students come from Ontario, nevertheless, we had representatives from each province of Canada except Saskatchewan, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island. Perhaps with the combined recruitment efforts of the Ridley Family we can boast in the near future of Ridley representatives from each province.

We are proud of our international character as well. Seventy-seven students in the Upper School, and 25 in the Lower School live outside Canada. The following countries are represented in our student body: Austria, Bahamas, Bermuda, Columbia, Dominican Republic, Guiana, Hong Kong, Mexico, Netherlands, Antilles, Nigeria, Phillipines, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, United Kingdom, U.S.A., Venezuela, and the West Indies.

I hope that members of the Ridley Family feel that it is an important part of their role to bring Ridley to the attention of any parents with sons and daughters who might be interested. If you would like us to send a prospectus and information to anyone, please don't hesitate to contact us: Admissions Department, Ridley College, P.O. Box 3013, St. Catharines, Ontario, L2R 7C3, Telephone Number - (416) 684-8193.

Mr. M. R. COOKE
Director of Admissions

Competitive Examinations for boys for entry to Grades 6 through 10 and for girls for entry to Grade 10 will be held on FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4th, 1983.

Arrangements may be made to write at a convenient location.

Big "R" Bazaar 1982: "The Hunt"

Suddenly, across the green darted a nimble little fox. Not far behind, baying hounds were making it boisterously known that they were anxious to pursue. Finally, in front of our eyes, appeared the Master of the Hunt, splendid in his Pinks, calling the "field" with a loud wail of his horn. And where are they going, you might ask? To the "Hunt" — the 1982 Big "R" Bazaar!

Lo and behold, the Wiley Fox sought cover in the stable (arena) and the pack soon followed to "Break his Cover". What a sight to behold! There before us were crowds of people milling about: parents, students and masters, all seeking the "Fox's Tail". Was he in the "Calico Hound", hiding under the many beautiful crafts for sale? Had he taken to the "Tack Room" where fascinating knick-knacks were stored? Maybe he had gone to watch the children play games in the "Copper Horne". No . . . someone had just spotted him sneaking stealthily into the "Bake Shoppe" with all its aromas! While awaiting the capture of the fox, the "field" relaxed and had tea in the old world atmosphere of the tea room, attended by our "Gracious Maids" (Master's wives) and soothed by flute and violin.

Unexpectedly, the air was alive with the excited voices of the hounds. The fox had escaped into the lush greenery of the "Garden Pathe" and had finally reached the rolling lawns. But this was his final downfall! There was no means of escape on this brilliant day. Ahead of him, games were being played, parents and students were watching and browsing around. The smell of meat made him pause . . . why, it was Mr. Cooke selling hot dogs! The "Water Hazard" . . . could he hide there? No . . . a rider called H. J. Packard had just taken a plunge. Finally his cover was broken and he was cornered. The "Tail" had at last been won!

Indeed, as the day ended, many of these events remained in our minds; the wholehearted involvement of the school, parents, students, masters and the community; the many hours spent and the bountiful miracles produced to make this event such an overwhelming success, which raised $9,600. In fact, I think that most of us concluded this "Hunt" with a heart overflowing with pride, love, thankfulness and contentment that this was truly a Ridley family.

Erratum

It was mistakenly reported in the July issue of Tiger (Article — Number 162 Celebrates its 75th Anniversary) that the present cadet uniforms were purchased in 1969 by the Board of Governors. They were in fact the gift of an anonymous donor. This donor also provided the funds to purchase the cadet uniforms for the girls.

Editor

Ridley Triumphant

Over Thanksgiving weekend, Ridley College sent a team of five, young public speakers and debaters to a nationwide public speaking contest held at St. John's-Ravenscourt School in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Representing the College were Dave Conklin, Gary Kirk and Kendra Grandsen.

Seventeen schools from all over Canada, as well as an American entry from Connecticut, made the journey to Winnipeg to compete in the St. John's-Ravenscourt Invitational Public Speaking Contest. The top three debaters are to represent Canada in the up-coming English Speaking Union International Public Speaking contest to be held in London, England in May of 1983. Gary Kirk from Ridley has been selected to compete in The English Speaking Union tournament and in so doing has won a two week, all expenses paid trip to England as well.

The level of competition was high in all the ten events. In all 58 students represented their schools at St. John's and fiercely contested for top place. The ten categories were:

- Impromptu Speaking
- Parliamentary Debating
- Extemporaneous Speaking
- After-dinner Speaking
- Persuasive Speaking
- Newscast
- Humorous Reading
- Dramatic Prose Reading
- Poetry Reading
- Drama Presentation

As can be seen the first category of events tended to demand much of the contestant. The qualities essential to success were intelligence, flexibility and quickness and the ability to think logically under pressure. These five events were judged with some stringency by debating and public speaking coaches.

The second series of events were more interpretive requiring the contestant to take a written work, make it his or hers and then persuade the audience to suspend belief. There was much more emotion involved in these contests with the result that scores for successful entants were high. If a particular school directed most effort at the interpretive events overall scores also tended to be very high thus weighing the final outcome in favour of schools not debating extensively.

Ridley students, allowed to enter three contests each, chose overwhelmingly to compete in the more demanding events. Gary Kirk entered impromptu and came first; parliamentary debating and came second; and persuasive (a ten minute problem/solution speech without notes) and again came first. Gary placed third over all. Dave Conklin entered the same events and did very well particularly in the final stages of the tournament. Kendra Grandsen participated in the impromptu and after-dinner categories as well as poetry reading, in which event she placed a very creditable fourth.

The top five schools were ranked as follows (out of 17):

- Toronto French School
- Lakefield College
- Upper Canada College
- Ridley College
- St. John's-Ravenscourt School

Bearing in mind that Ridley students entered the most difficult and most severely judged categories, the performance of our young public-speakers was outstanding.

The warmth and hospitality of staff, students and parents of St. John's-Ravenscourt School will be fondly remembered. We were all treated very well in Winnipeg. A special word of thanks goes to John Aimer of S.J.R. for doing that most difficult of tasks, organizing and running a continent-wide contest with such consummate skill that he made it look easy. It is decidedly not easy!

And above all, thanks must go to Mr. Jeremy Packard, the Headmaster, for his support and vital assistance in making Thanksgiving Weekend the success that it was.

MR. J. F. BRYAN

Editor's Note: Mr. Bryan modestly downplays his role as staff advisor to the public speaking and debating teams at Ridley. He too deserves congratulations.

Mr. Jim Bryan, staff advisor to public speaking and debating teams with Gary Kirk and David Conklin. Absent when photo was taken, Kenora Grandsen.

As part of a long term project to beautify the campus the front circle was landscaped with new walks and trees and the old hedge was removed.

1st Team Soccer

Bermuda Tour

During the Fourth Dimension week this year, the First Soccer Team, under the care of Mr. B. Martin and Mr. A. Sherman, traveled to Bermuda. Like all tours of this nature, the purpose was threefold: (a) to test their mettle on the field against international competition, (b) to experience and enjoy a new and different culture, (c) to show Ridley's colours on "foreign" soil.

All three goals were, I think, admirably met. Though unable to win any matches, the team played very well, losing to Warwick Academy and Saltus Grammar School by identical scores of 3-2, and giving up a tie to Berkley Institute 5-5 in the dying minutes.

The group was hosted most generously by members of the Ridley Family in Bermuda and had a wonderful time exploring the island (in spite of some dampness!) A special word of thanks to Graham and Anne Powell for adopting more than their share of boys on several rainy days!

A fine reception was held at the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club on Wednesday evening where team members had a chance to meet many past Riddleians and talk about the school to interested prospective parents.

The tour was undoubtedly a valuable experience for all concerned and it is very reassuring to know that the Ridley spirit is still so alive and well on the island of Bermuda.

Lower School boxing — Alive and Well!

Lower School Notes

One could, perhaps, say something about good things and small parcels. In the Michaelmas Term one is prone to see only the best in one's charges — but, because it is still Michaelmas (or half-past) I am still able to say that this year we just may have reason for our feelings.

It is a smaller package this year — 86 boarders and 58 day boys. In August we had expected to fill all our beds, but last-minute withdrawals caught us unawares, alas.

The Mid-Term Report indicates that our academic problems are few — even our Hispanic students seem to know more English!

Athletically, too, life has been successful. A combination of Upper-and-Lower School Under-15 soccer players captured the trophy at the tournament at S.A.C. early in the year. It is the first time Ridley has won it since it was donated by "Supporters of Ridley Soccer" in 1973. Coach Loat looks like a proud father. The remainder of the soccer season brought considerable success to a young-but-talented First Team — and not much success but considerable enjoyment to the Seconds. Most of the Third Soccer Team had journeyed to Winnipeg for the Under-Thirteen Tournament and reached the finals before being defeated by a fine Appleby team. One member was heard to say, "Appleby! We could've been beaten by them at home!" But never mind, we are still trying to make heroes. Soccer on the 4th, 5th, and 6th Team level was played with more (4th) or less (6th) success.

I Football did well with a well-balanced and highly coachable team — they lost only two games. II Football almost had a winning season — and a more successful one than in recent years.

New boys have gone to Niagara Falls, Grade 9 to Stratford, and some "selects" to local theatres and concerts: Marge is in her heaven making chocolate brownies for Mr. Rice — what could possibly be wrong with the world?

Branch Meetings

Bermuda

The First Soccer team visited Bermuda to play three matches against Bermuda schools at the time of the Half Term break.

It was decided to hold a Bermuda branch meeting of the Association to coincide with the Soccer tour. Jeremy and Ingrid Packard along with Sam and Libby Heaman, Mr. Brian Martin, Mr. Tony Sherman and the team represented the School.

A very pleasant gathering was held at the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club on Wednesday evening 10 November. Almost sixty-five Bermudians (Alumni, Current and Past Parents) attended as well as the Rideleians. From the comments heard at the meeting it was very much enjoyed by all who attended.

The National Film Board movie 'Ridley: A Secret Garden' was screened and Jeremy Packard spoke on the realities of Ridley today.

Special thanks are extended to Reid T. Young (59) who organized the meeting along with G. Kirk Kitson (58) and to Graham Powell (43) for acting as chairman of the meeting in the unavoidable absence of Reid Young.

Bermuda hospitality was overwhelming according to recent visitors, Dr. F. John Routhwaite ('40), Michael Masters ('58), E. Graham Gibbons ('38), William T. Wilson ('36).

GRAHAM M. MacLACHLAN (33)

With the sudden death of Graham MacLachlan on 13 October 1982 Ridley lost one of her most devoted and respected sons. Graham was born in Winnipeg on June 4, 1914 and came to Ridley as a new boy in 1928. His career at Ridley was outstanding.

He was a Prefect, a member of the First Football team, a Gymnast, and the Cadet Major, Commanding Officer of the Cadet Corps. Graham developed his great skills as a speaker at Ridley and won the Public Speaking Competition in 1931. Graham's brother Cam recalls, "his topic was the Russian Five Year Plan. I recall not understanding much of the speech but being very proud of him for his excellent delineation." Graham remained an excellent speaker throughout his life — few, if any, being better.

After graduating from Ridley in 1933 Graham attended Trinity College at the University of Toronto and was awarded his B.A. in Political Science and Economics in 1937. He studied law at Osgoode Hall and was called to the Bar early in 1940. Shortly after he answered the call to arms and went overseas with the Royal Regiment of Canada.

Graham was sent to North Africa as an observer for the Canadian Army in 1942 where he was attached to the British 1st Army. Missing the operation at Dieppe he did a very commendable job for reorganizing the Battalion which had been decimated at Dieppe. In France, Graham served with the Royal Regiment and became Lt.Col. of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry for a short time. Returning to Canada in 1945 Graham served as Second in Command at the large infantry training centre in Vernon, B.C. before his discharge. After the war he was named Lt.Col. of the Royal Regiment of Canada and maintained an interest in both the R.R. of C. and the R.H.L.I. until his death.

Graham joined Maple Leaf Milling Co. Ltd. in 1945 as Executive Assistant. He was instrumental in organizing the merger of Maple Leaf Milling and Toronto Elevators Ltd., eventually becoming president and chief executive officer. He remained active with the company until he suffered a severe stroke in 1969 which left him sadly crippled.

With typical determination and desire to help others Graham avowed to do something about stroke research. In conjunction with officials of Sunnybrook Hospital he agreed to raise funds to establish a stroke research and rehabilitation centre. At the time of its inception it was the only one in Canada and one of the most modern in the world. This project, named the MacLachlan Stroke Unit, remained Graham's prime interest until his death.

Graham was a most devoted and generous Ridleian who gave freely of his time and substance to the School. He served as president of the Ridley College Old Boys Association from 1945-47. He was elected to the Board of Governors in 1950 and served loyally and with great effect until his illness in 1969. In 1971 he was appointed to the Advisory Council of the Board and attended his last meeting in September.

In an already full life Graham found time to pursue his interests in electronics and assembled his own Ham radio unit and was granted a license as an operator. Other interests which occupied him were the development of the Working Boys Home of Toronto now known as the Clifton House for Boys, Toronto waterfront, the University Club (President 1960), the Toronto Club, The Toronto Golf Club and the Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

GRAHAM M. MacLACHLAN

In 1981 Graham was presented with a plaque by the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, naming him Metro Toronto Senior Citizen of the Year for his great contributions to life in Toronto.

Graham's life was an exemplary one of which his family is justifiably proud. All of us whose lives were touched by his were made richer for the experience. To his widow, Mary, her sons Charles and Jamie and to Graham's brothers, Campbell and David, the Ridley family expresses its affection for Graham and its heartfelt sympathy to them on his death.

Award To Distinguished Ridleian

RONALD H. PERRY (19) was recently honored by being presented with a Class of 1842 Award at the Pickering College Prize Day. This is the highest form of recognition the College confers. Ron taught at Pickering from 1927 to 1940. He is the author of the famed book 'The Canoe and You.' Following service in the RCAF where he rose to the rank of Squadron Leader, Ron was appointed Dean of Residence at the University of Toronto's Ajax Centre for veterans and then director of educational programs at Hart House. In 1950 he was appointed Headmaster of Ashbury College, a post he filled with distinction for sixteen years. And then at a time when most experienced educators would have thought of retiring, Ron Perry became the founding Headmaster of Rosseau Lake School in Muskoka. He retired in 1975 and is now living in retirement at Port Colborne, Ont.

J. David Bishop (49)

J. DAVID BISHOP

The Ridley family was deeply saddened early in September by the sudden death of David Bishop. Throughout his life David held the School close to his heart and offered dedicated and generous service throughout the years.

As a prominent member of the Class of '49 David distinguished himself as a gymnast, a football player and School Prefect. Always affable and with good humour, he is remembered by his classmates as "the Character" in their ranks.

In 1952 David joined Dominion Securities Corporation in Toronto and his career for the next 27 years was devoted to the investment business. David held positions with Burns Brothers and Denton Ltd. and Brawley Cathers Ltd. In 1979 he went into business on his own as president of Electro Rubber Ltd., a company which manufactures electrical wiring harnesses and industrial cord sets.

Outside interests which occupied David's time were the 48 Highlanders of Canada with whom he served as a Lieutenant and the Canadian Club in which he served first as Honorary Treasurer and then as Vice President. He also served as a director of the Leonard Foundation for many years.

Perhaps David's greatest enjoyment came from the Muskoka, at the family island, Wasan, on Lake Rosseau. It was to this haven that he loved to retreat and enjoy the company of family and friends. Shortly before his death the family celebrated 50 years as owners of Wasan Island.

Always a dedicated Ridleian, David was elected to the Board of Governors in 1967 and served as Honorary Secretary to the Ridley College Association from 1976 to 1980. In 1982 he was appointed a Vice President of the Board of Governors.

The Ridley family wishes to extend its sincere condolences to David's family; his sons John, Arthur and Andrew, his brother Michael and his sisters Judith and Susannah. Their sense of loss is deeply felt at the School. David's presence will be greatly missed.

A Tribute

Lt.Col. Donald A. Mackenzie, DSO

The late Donald A. Mackenzie (33) was killed in action during World War II on 12 April 1945 near Wilp in The Netherlands. At the time of his death Don was Commanding Officer of the 48th Highlanders of Canada. He had led the unit with great skill and valour in Italy, then through France, Belgium and into The Netherlands. His death occurred only about a week before the 48th fired their last shots against the enemy.

Now, thirty-seven years later, his leadership and courage in helping to liberate The Netherlands from German domination has been recognized by the Dutch people. This was due to the inspiration of a former Dutch Air Force officer and a Lt.Col. of the Dutch Army.

On 12 April Prince Bernhard unveiled a plaque to Don's memory on the church wall in Wilp and at the same time named a street in Wilp, 'Mackenzieplaats'.

Don's brother, Robert, and twenty-five of his old comrades were present to participate in the event.

JOHN S. PITFIELD of Toronto was awarded the degree of BA at the spring convocation of the University of Western Ontario. He is now an options floor trader with Pitfield, Mackay, Ross Ltd., investment dealers.

MARK E. PREECE of Grimsby, Ont. was awarded the degree of AB (biochemistry) at the spring convocation of Bowdoin College.

JEREMY N. PRIDHAM of Oakville, Ont. is in 3rd year Medicine at the University of Western Ontario. This year he is co-captain of the Western Squash team.

1979 — Derek D. Fraser

TIMOTHY A. HANSON is living in Wawa, Ont. where he is a sinter plant supervisor with the Algoma Ore division of the Algoma Steel Corporation Limited. Tim graduated from the Haileybury School of Mines as a mining engineering technologist last spring.

MARTIN F. MAI of London, Ont. was awarded the degree of BA (Econ. & Phys. Ed.) at the spring convocation of the University of Western Ontario.

RONALD A. NIXON of Calgary was awarded the degree of BA (Econ.) at the spring convocation of the University of Western Ontario. He will be beginning his MBA course at U.W.O. in the fall.

AMANDA J. PREECE of Grimsby, Ont. was awarded the degree of BA by Queen's University. She is currently working for Cable 4 TV in Hamilton.
